

An offer you should not dismiss!

In conjunction with the commencement of the Diploma in Biblical Studies for Teachers through Intensives in the recent vacation, we have entered into an arrangement with Moore Books to assist Anglican Schools associated with the Commission to stock their libraries with a carefully selected range of books.

A list and description of the books, CDR and DVD accompanies this letter. They provide your library with a comprehensive reference source that covers key areas of Christian thought, history and theology.

The books will be especially helpful for your teachers, whether they are teachers of Christian/Biblical Studies or teachers of other subjects. Certainly the teachers who enroll in the Diploma course over the next few years will find having access to these books in the school library a great help.

The arrangement is specifically for Anglican schools.

The complete package can be ordered at a discount price of $750.

Alternatively, the products can be purchased individually by the school library at a 15% discount.

Moore Books are happy to open an account for your library and offer the school a discount of 15% off most books in the store. Schools which open an account will be contacted next year with a further package arrangement.

Just contact the store to set up an account. You can order by phone, in person at 21 King Street, Newtown or visit www.moorebooks.com.au.

This is a great offer and a great opportunity to augment the theological resources within your library.

Bryan Cowling
Executive Director
Anglican Education Commission

Adam Tierney
Manager
Moore Books

